

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Shayna Bayard

215-850-0976 or e-mail: info@natebrownentertainment.com

Website: natebrownentertainment.com

Date: March 16, 2009

CELEBRATE WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH WITH AN ECLECTIC
MIX OF ART, MUSIC AND CULTURE

Event Date: Saturday, March 28, 2009, 7 pm to 11 pm

Philadelphia, PA—NateBrown Entertainment™ presents Underground Soul™, a one of a kind showcase of artists who speak to the heart and soul of the community through artistic expression. Held every 4th Saturday at Patterson's Palace (1621 Cecil B. Moore Avenue) from 7 pm to 11 pm, Underground Soul™ premieres Saturday, March 28. In recognition of Women's History Month, the showcase will feature some of this area's most gifted and introspective women artists.

Named for the late fathers of both founders, NateBrown Entertainment™ is dedicated to elevating artists of every genre (spoken word, visual art, authors, dancers, vocalists, instrumentalists, motivational speakers) who seek to empower the community through affirmative expression and art. The company's mission is to bring more recognition to conscious and responsible artists who are committed to uplifting the community.

Hosted exclusively by poet extraordinaire Aziza Kinteh, Underground Soul™ has assembled a dynamic group of spoken word artists, vocalists, and drummers who embody a spirit of community consciousness and cultural gratitude. The Urban Shamans, dedicated to healing a community through African rhythms, jazz, and Caribbean beats, will stand as the live house band for Underground Soul™. Featuring a different line-up of artists each month, Underground Soul™ is the place to "free your mind, body, and spirit with an eclectic mix of art, music and culture."

In honor of Women's History Month, Jan Jeffries and Marcy Francis Present MOM (Music Over Matter), a woman's empowerment drumming circle, will grace the stage as the featured performers. Get ready for powerful drum and sekere rhythms all from this influential group of women. Lois Moses, a veteran of the spoken word community, is geared up to bring her words of wisdom through spoken word. The roster continues with vocalist Rhetta Morgan, who has an established reputation of blessing crowds with her peaceful vocals and inspirational lyrics of self-healing and renewal. Both Rhetta Morgan and Lois Moses will collaborate on a selection or two to energize and motivate the audience to action. There will also be special performances by spoken word artist, Tamesha Hawkins and vocalist Zen Aura.

NateBrown Entertainment™ was founded to elevate artistic expression in service to the community. In tune with this mission, the company will donate a portion of proceeds from all its events to an organization/company that is empowering and uplifting the community. A portion of the proceeds from this event will benefit the Sally Watson Center Crisis Nursery, which supports families and children in need.

The cover price for Underground Soul™ is $10; $8 with student ID; Patrons are encouraged to dine for dinner with a menu crafted especially for Underground Soul™ by Patterson's Palace. Doors open at 7pm for dinner; show time is 8pm to 11pm sharp.

To obtain press credentials and/or interviews for Underground Soul™, contact Shayna Bayard at 215-850-0976 or via e-mail info@natebrownentertainment.com.